

As local companies expand their foothold globally, it is important for employees to have a good understanding of international trade practices and policies. This helps to enhance audit compliance and shareholder value while minimizing company liability, an instrumental component in the course of your overseas trading activities.

The Certified Exporter program is an international trade certification program aligned to widely-accepted global standards and is supported by the International Import-Export Institute at Dunlap-Stone University in the U.S. This program is recognized by the U.S Department of Commerce and U.S Department of Labor, and has seen employees from multinational companies achieving the certification or undergone the training.

This course is designed to let participants acquire a good understanding of international trade practices and policies, and a working knowledge of the standard import-export documentation procedures. Course participants take a proctored online examination at the end of the course in order to obtain the international trade certification from IIEI as a Certified Exporter.

With this industry certification, foreign counterparts are better assured of your abilities, code of ethics and work professionalism, thus offering a trade advantage and greater ease of mind. Companies will also be leveled on a standard trading platform with their foreign partners, engaging on a "common language" that is accepted by all parties.

www.sficinstitute.com

Certified Exporter Program from International Import- Export Institute (IIEI)

Course Outline

- Introduction to Trade
- Planning and Preparations for Export
- International payment options and procedures
- General and possible problems faced by Seller and Buyer
- Collection
- Documentary Credits
- Shipping Documentations
- Trade Finance
- Risks in Trade operations
- Risks in Trade Finance
- Mitigation of Risks
- Questions and answers
- Case Studies

Who Are We

SFIC Institute is a human capital solutions provider established in response to the needs of a rapidly evolving workplace environment. We offer development courses for a wide spectrum of industries.

Adopting an educational model that couples academic knowledge with applied experiential training, we advocate a holistic learning system to better equip students with the skills and mindset to cope with their work challenges. Innovative and unique training methodologies are also engaged to inspire creativity in our students.

In keeping up with the management and technological advancements of today, it is vital for workers to enhance their employability through upgrading of skills. At SFIC Institute, we ensure the relevance of our curriculum by keeping abreast of the latest industry developments. This helps to ensure a competitive edge for our graduates.

Our Courses

SFIC Institute offers a full range of courses catering to varying needs of different industries. These include both knowledge and skill-based courses in diverse areas such as Business, Design, Service, Leadership Development, Manufacturing Technology, Consultancy and many more.

Taught by industry professionals specifically selected for their experience and teaching skills, our courses are also tailored for employees of different work capacities, from operational to supervisory and managerial levels.