Hello everyone,

I just want to share with you my first day experience at the Furniture fair . This round the event was held at Singapore Expo and the whole show it actually take up to 7 halls . It is the Biggest Furniture fair in Singapore for the this year it was a huge event and you can see many oversea exhibitors showcase their best work.

This is my first time attending the furniture fair so i decided to be there early . I though that having to reach there at 10 am it was considering early but to my surprise many people is much more early then me. The queue was long and i was a bit upset. I quickly head for the booth and filled up the register form and join in the queues. At the counter you receive a bag inside consist a map and the book show directory. There are 2 set of lines for the Q . So remember to queue at the correct line. Although there were many people registering at the foyer but it was well organize and crowd is well control .The Q move fast i got my pass soon and i head down to the hall .

I decided to start from Hall 2 which is the which is the Deco Asia and Hospitality Asia mainly stuffs like Decorative Accessories, carpets/ rugs, materials, painting/ picture frames, home textiles, bedroom sets, contract furniture and furnishing, lighting and accessories, art and decorative accessories and many more.

Hall 3 to Hall 8 showcase international furniture all over the world. At hall 3 The Platform highlight and display local talents and some local institutes displaying their award winning work. One of the section display designs from the Furniture Design award Singapore category. It is amazing to see design works that really inspiration.

Moving on from Hall 3 to Hall 4 and 5 and 6 showcase the rest of the international Furniture Exhibitors from oversea and local. I was disappointed with some of the Exhibitors I encounter. I notice the Western Exhibitors are more easy to approach compare to Asia Exhibitors. I was rejected by many Asia exhibitors when i ask for permission to take a picture of the display i was very disappointed.

I did not manage to finish all the hall but it was a pleasant day at the Furniture Fair 2011.

Anyway, I must congratulated to the organizer for a successful Event.

I will be updating the some of the individual exhibitors works .
